It's Kids Heart Challenge time! Raise your hand if you drank at least one glass of water yesterday. Wow! That's great! Water helps your heart pump blood more easily and deliver oxygen to your brain and all the cells in your body. Water is really great for us, but did you know on average, American kids are consuming enough added sugars in sugary beverages every year to fill a bathtub?! Wow! We should definitely all choose to drink more water instead of things like sodas, fruit drinks and energy drinks!

When I grow up I want to be... an author, a doctor, a teacher, a bus driver, an electrician, a farmer, a web designer, a soldier, a salesman or maybe even an elementary principal!! How about you? Tomorrow is "Dress for Your Future Career Day"! I am excited to see all of the careers in the halls and the classroom!

Question: Is there snow outside? If the answer is yes-wear your snowpants!

Next week we will begin working on our Mario Games! I am excited to see what everyone creates!

Good luck to Faith, Ethan, Ryen and Tyler at the Spelling Bee Tomorrow!
